YOU'RE INVITED

The Champlain Hudson Power Express (CHPE) project is hosting a pre-construction open house to explain our route and give residents and business owners the opportunity to ask questions about the project's construction, location and timelines in Rockland County.

The open house will be hosted by members of the project's construction, real estate and community engagement teams who will answer your questions and provide you community specific information.

Champlain Hudson Power Express is an innovative energy transmission project which will bring clean, renewable hydropower from Québec, Canada to Queens, meeting 20% of the city's power needs and reducing greenhouse gas emissions by 3.9 million metric tons per year.
